

Cover Letter

Whom we respect,
Manager PSIKOLOGIKA: Jurnal Pemikiran dan Penelitian Psikologi

Herewith, we send you a manuscript of the results of research with the title: "Is sensation-seeking always bad? The role of sensation-seeking in predicting individual work role performance (Apakah sensation-seeking selalu buruk? Peran sensation-seeking dalam memprediksi kinerja berdasarkan peran individu)" so that its publication can be considered in the journal you manage. We, through this manuscript, show the findings that sensation-seeking and emotional intelligence predicts individual performance directly but emotional intelligence cannot show sensation-seeking to predict individual performance. We believe that the findings have an important contribution to employee and organization in Indonesia that sensation-seeking could be a positive drive to be an active learner.

As for the origin of this manuscript, we convey that this manuscript comes from output of the final project under supervision of Martina Dwi Mustika.
